

ABUNDANT

ENERGY CREATES SECURITY

Thanks to the hard work and ingenuity of millions of Americans, our nation is now an energy superpower. Shale energy breakthroughs have helped make America the world's number one natural gas producer, and we will soon become number one in oil – seemingly unthinkable just a few years ago. That's just the beginning. Abundant domestic oil and natural gas are fueling a rebirth of American manufacturing, and with smart policies, responsible domestic energy production can power a broader American renaissance. Now more than ever, abundant energy means abundant prosperity and security for all Americans.
